Dear Burton:

Lloyd Millegan and I have made a round-up to see how much R & A material has actually been of use here, and we were surprised at the volume of it. It is found in half a dozen publications, sometimes with credit, sometimes without, but it has been well-nigh indispensable in some jobs and useful in all. Practically all of the material that I have brought out has been utilized. The collection that Lloyd got together for me has been a boon to six or eight agencies. Dr. Tossler's material has been extremely useful. Lloyd is making a list of what has been of use that I will send to you.

Ed Mill has done an excellent job on his "Government of the New Philippines." It is being eagerly sought for by numerous staff agencies concerned with the reoccupation. Ed's other current activities are producing rich dividends from our standpoint. I am sorry that direct reciprocity is impossible — you know what the situation is. All I can say is that if there is any satisfaction in making a definite although only partially acknowledged contribution to the war effort in this Theater you are entitled to it.

Things are moving along here, as you know. One feels that the goal is in sight, although still some distance off. Lloyd is indispensable. He is now a staff-se general and I hope that he will be wearing shoulder bars in due time.

Best regards to your family — also my friends in the office.

Sincerely,

Signed: J. R. Hayden

Dear General Donovan:

It was recently found necessary to make a motion picture record of the tests in connection with an important secret Army Air Force project.

As security and speed were essential, and as the Office of Strategic Services was working closely with us on a similar project, this office requested your Field Photographic Branch to produce these films.

The pictures are now completed and have proven highly satisfactory. They were made with a minimum of effort and expense and with that fine spirit of cooperation that has exemplified the association of the Office of Strategic Services with the Army Air Forces.

I wish to express my deep appreciation for the courteous and efficient assistance extended by your splendid organization.

Dear Colonel Haskell:

The results obtained in the reports from the Sussex operation have been very helpful. Not only was the information useful, but compared with the great volume of CI reports received the level of accuracy has been gratifyingly high. The manner in which the operation has been carried out reflects the obviously excellent training which the intelligence teams had been given.

I am aware that in addition to the Sussex teams there are other OSS SI teams attached to First US Army, but I have not yet received sufficient reports on their work to be able to judge their performance.

Dear General Donovan:

A small group of us preceded the U. S. Chiefs of Staff to the U. K. to prepare for the recently completed conference of the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

While in London several of us took the opportunity offered by your Colonel Joe Haskell to visit his Headquarters. We visited their operations rooms and were thoroughly read into the past, current and projected activities of that branch of your establishment with respect to the invasion of France.

While I had a general knowledge of OSS activities both in my Air Staff duties and as a member of the Joint and Combined Chiefs of Staff organizations, I had not fully appreciated the great contribution your organization is making in the European fight.

In Assam and Burma in March - 1944, I was again surprised and pleased to learn in detail of your very great assistance to the operation of our air units which are supporting General Stilwell and particularly in the recovery of airmen who bail out over the "Hump".

In both instances I have acquainted General Arnold with my greater appreciation of the value of OSS and want to take this opportunity to do likewise to you.

SUBJECT: Recommendation for presentation of a United States award to source HOUSTON.

TO : Commanding Officer,
2677th Regiment, A.F.H.V.

Source HOUSTON, formerly known as ED a sub-source of the MADRID chain, has been furnishing information on Southern FRANCE for a period of over twelve months. In the last three months alone this source has turned in the remarkable total of nearly 400 reports from a total of some 40 identified agents and has provided information of operational importance on almost every type of enemy activity and installation.

This source has particularly distinguished itself in the matter of coast defenses and has provided excellent ground reports on German fortifications, especially between FORT VINCIGES and SETE and in the environs of TOULON. Detailed mechanical drawings of a great many batteries and Regelbau, which were forwarded with their legend in German, were a particularly noteworthy contribution to our knowledge of enemy defense constructions.

This source has furthermore furnished a quantity of accurate information on German Order of Battle and reports on enemy TCOs (notably a complete breakdown of the TCO Alpenrose, which brought 2 S.S. Panzer Division DAS REICH from BORDEAUX to the TOULOUSE area) have been most helpful.

Qualitatively as well as quantitatively, Source HOUSTON has proven one of the best of the purely American contributions to Allied intelligence and the principal organizer of this chain can be said to have done, in an extremely important area and at an extremely important time, an outstanding job.

My dear General Donovan,

It was very kind of you to send through Lieutenant Leonard Wilson, U.S.N.R. of your Department the very interesting statistical maps and charts, and also the Gazetteer for use in my Map Room. These maps have been found most useful. Please accept my warm thanks.

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,

SUBJECT: Captain JOHN R. CROZIER

REFERENCE: AC of S, G-3, Fifth Army.

TO: Chief of GSS Operations, AFHQ

1. The intelligence services of CAPTAIN JOHN R. CROZIER, First Special Service Force, have been of a commendatory character since the beginning of the campaign on the Beachhead.

2. Of the eight agents put through the lines held by the enemy on the right flank of the ANZIO Beachhead, six returned successfully with information concerning enemy defenses and intentions on this front.

3. When it is considered these agents were in some cases trained in other cases only briefly trained, the competence of their reports, and an excellent supervisory control by Captain CROZIER, all of which are of all missions and later detailed interrogation of agents resulted in a over-all picture of enemy movements, identification of enemy positions, and civilian affairs in enemy-occupied territory.

Dear Stan:

I am delayed in writing to you to express our appreciation for the very useful information and assistance obtained from Professor Calosi in the course of several conferences with him by different groups within OSRD. We particularly appreciate the courtesy of OSS in bringing him to Washington for these conferences and I can assure you that the information which he gave to our people fully justified the effort involved both on his part and on the part of his organization in bringing him here.

His extensive scientific and practical experience in the field of torpedo exploders has been of special value to our people working in that field. We have also been pleased with his cordiality and very apparent desire to give whatever information he had which might aid us in finding better solutions to our problems.

Very sincerely yours,

SUBJECT: Commendation

TO : Mr. Donall C. Downes

1. I wish to commend and compliment you for the fine work and superior manner in which you have conducted CSS duties under the direction of A. C. of S., G-2, Fifth Army, during the five months May 1-October 1, 1943.

2. For the period with which Fifth Army was responsible for counter-intelligence in Morocco, the CSS, under your direction, gave a valuable contribution in connection with combat and counter intelligence activities. During combat in Italy, you showed initiative, energy, and resourcefulness in organizing informer service and helping the military effort in any way possible, including the delivery of supplies when the need for such arose.

3. Regret very much losing your services at this time and wish you every good luck in the future.

Dear General Donovan:

I understand that because of budgetary restrictions on civilian personnel there is a possibility that the work of your Presentation Division may be curtailed in the near future.

As you know, the Army has made extensive use of this Division and it has been of great value to us to have such an organization to which we could turn for prompt and intelligent service. The secret film "The United States Army" made for General Marshall's use was remade into a restricted version for general Army use. It has proved to be one of the most widely used of Army instructional films; the Officer Candidate School uses it three times during each course. Other films have been made for G-3 and for the Commanding General, Army Air Forces. We also feel that the films on new weapons produced for the Joint Chiefs of Staff are of great value.

In addition to films, the Army has also received from this Division excellent graphic and editorial services. It prepared the charts and illustrations for the Annual Report of the Chief of Staff and is at present preparing for this office a study of Army communications. A large volume of the work of this type has also been done for other branches of the Army.

The work which the Presentation Division of the Office of Strategic Services has done for the Army has been of a very high technical excellence. Its personnel have been most cooperative and have spared neither time nor energy in their effort to render services. There is no other place in either the War Department or in the other government services where work of this type can be performed quickly, secretly, and with such a high degree of technical excellence. I hope that there will be no curtailment which will prevent the continuation of the work which the Presentation Division has been doing for the War Department and the Army.

Sincerely yours,

PHILIP T. McNARNEY

We are engaged in a very important confidential project involving the matter of presentation -- specifically the preparation of quite a number of graphic illustrations and maps.

The purpose for which the work is intended is such as to require that it be executed with the highest degree of ability and effectiveness.

We have talked with Mr. Barton of the Presentation Division of your office and feel that this Division is the best qualified and equipped in Washington to do the work.

If you could give this project your official approval, it would be greatly appreciated.

Dear Colonel Donovan:

Thank you for your letter of January 14, and the accompanying report from the committee which has been investigating the availability of motion pictures on strategic areas of the world.

I feel, on the basis of the results obtained to date, that the committee's recommendation for the continuance of this project is deserving of serious consideration. Naturally, we are keenly interested in the possibilities of obtaining further material of value from sources such as those which have already been listed, and I am therefore taking the opportunity of circulating the committee's report to various interested offices within the Department for study. The recent speedy collection and showing of films on the Pacific islands which your staff handled for us is a good example of what advantages may result from a comprehensive survey and cataloging of these sources.

There is, of course, considerable work still to be done in setting up any permanent means for handling or evaluating the vast mass of material involved. In the working out of some ultimate arrangement mutually satisfactory to all parties concerned we shall be glad to be of all possible assistance, and to that end we should appreciate being informed of any further steps which your agency may contemplate after review of the committee's report.

I understand that in all probability you are going to close down your Italian S.I. section shortly, and bring back most, if not all, of your S.I. people from Italy.

That being so, I should like on this occasion to pay a special tribute to Brennan by putting on record my sincere appreciation of the friendly and co-operative spirit which he has gone out of his way to display.

Moore has repeatedly told me that Brennan never loses an opportunity to be helpful. As a result, they have been able to build up an association which has, I think, been useful to both our organizations and proved a de facto working model of Anglo-American collaboration between individuals.

I have been informed that Dr. Hugo Holborn has terminated his connection with the Office of Strategic Services in order to return to his duties at Yale University. I am taking this opportunity to express my appreciation for the many services rendered to me and to my office by Dr. Holborn as a member of your staff.

For more than a year he served as a member of the Committee on Civil Affairs Studies. You are well aware of the importance of the work that has been done in the preparation of Civil Affairs guides.

Dr. Holborn was, during the entire period that he served upon the committee, one of its most enthusiastic and industrious members. As the result of his excellent opinions and the advice that he rendered as a member of the committee, the guides that have been prepared have proved to be documents which are a very real value in the conduct of the work of military government. In addition, I feel fortunate to have had the services of Dr. Holborn as a personal adviser in which capacity he has done much to assist me with my problems.

It is with extreme regret that we now see Dr. Holborn leave.

The work that was done in the South of France and Northern Italy, quite apart from the brilliant work in Switzerland, has been quite remarkably good.

During my long spell in G-2 in the Mediterranean it has been most gratifying to see the value and reliability of the large amount of information from OSS sources, grow from day to day. I do hope that you will allow me to express my admiration and gratitude for all that has been done by your organization. General, Chief of Staff
Office of Strategic Services

Dear General,

I wish to express to you my deep appreciation for the outstanding work on the part of the ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS.

It was my good fortune to have participated in the operation and I am, therefore, familiar with the organization and functions placed on the OSS, and the high quality and the highly commendable manner with which they were carried out by all concerned.

The work of Allan W. DULLES was particularly noteworthy. His establishment of the original contacts in Switzerland and management of subsequent conferences and discussions were carried out with rare skill and sound judgment. Great credit is due to the thoroughness and efficiency with which he handled the many problems of frontier passage, security, and the many movements of personnel and equipment from one place to another in SWITZERLAND. Throughout the entire period, he and his entire staff worked long hours, often under the most trying conditions, and were always most cooperative with General AIRLEY, and the ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS.

Mr. DULLES' knowledge of the German language and psychology made his invaluable in the various phases of the operation. His diplomatic handling of the operation was a major factor in the success of the German plenipotentiary operation in the return. His participation in the conferences, and particularly during the period of the return, was of great value to us all.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Colonel Edward J. F. GLENN and the 2677th Regiment contributed much to the success of the SUNLINE-CROSSWORD operation. The heavy additional signal traffic was handled efficiently, for movement and accommodation were well prepared and efficiently executed, and complete security was maintained throughout the operation.

In the foregoing, I have attempted to give credit to members of your organization with whom I had direct contact. In my opinion, played outstanding parts in the SUNLINE-CROSSWORD operation. The greatest credit, however, belongs to you and the Strategic Services for having in existence the personnel and the means required to take full advantage of the SUNLINE-CROSSWORD operation. For this, I am in full conclusion. Aside from the important intelligence and operational roles played by OSS in this war, your organization played a vital part in bringing about the unconditional surrender of the German Armies in Northern ITALY and Southern AUSTRIA, which hastened the complete collapse of the entire German Government. By this action on the part of OSS, the war has been brought to a successful conclusion such as could not have otherwise been possible, with the consequent saving of many lives and much treasure.

1. It has come to my attention that our reaction to the value of the so-called "ghost" reports.

2. Under existing combat conditions, my view has been found that this manner of gathering intelligence is not the other method. A recent example is the flight of an aircraft via Stuttgart and who definitely confirmed the presence of a reported motorized army being concentrated in that area. I have back various bits of very timely and valuable information. I was extremely interested in the report.

3. Our desire is to effect the dropping of agents south of the Danube, some of them to tour the various front lines along prescribed routes. By establishing such agents the worth of our intelligence is increased.

4. In the event you have the occasion to speak to him, will you express to him our desire in main, and to believe will be much more valuable than any other source of intelligence.

Dear General

When Captain Conway, Associate Director of the War Shipping Administration, was in Paris recently, he gave a cabinet of 10" X 12" photographs on European ports. One of the Photographic Unit located in the South American Division allowed us to borrow, on April 6, a complete set of photographs of the port of Antwerp.

These photographs, in the opinion of Captain Conway and myself, rank among the best and clearest port photographs. They would be most valuable to this Agency in making operational studies and post-war plans.

We would appreciate your placing this Agency on the distribution list for one complete set of photographs on any port in Europe.

Your cooperation in this matter would be sincerely appreciated.

Dear General Donovan:

This is to express for the Joint Chiefs of Staff and for myself sincere thanks to you and your Reproduction Branch for the fine workmanship so expeditiously accomplished in printing and binding the permanent record of the recent Crimean Conference. This is the fifth volume reproduced with the splendid cooperation of the Reproduction Branch, Office of Strategic Services.

The number of individuals employed was necessarily limited and each gave unhesitatingly of his energy and experience in order to create a printed and bound record which would be as nearly perfect as possible. Dear Bill:

The charts that your office prepared for us not only proved their value in a military sense, but also are examples of perfect workmanship. They were of inestimable value to us in explaining to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and several of their supporting agencies the intricacies of our written plan.

I would appreciate your commending the persons responsible for working up these charts for us and in working so wholeheartedly with my officers.

We were delighted to have your company from Hawaii to the coast and hope we can have you as a traveling companion again in the near future.

EXCERPTS FROM A REPORT BY CAPTAIN DAVID
WILLIAMS OF HIS RECENT TOUR ** PERIOD, 1944

7. M.C.A.C.

General Sultan was away but I met General Cannon, Colonel Knight, Colonel Stillwell, Colonel Peers (just promoted), and many other officers.

This front is probably the best served by clandestine intelligence and their liaison with 14th Army on that level is efficient, speedy and co-operative.

There are, however, two points of great importance affecting policy:-

1. The question of raising and arming of guerrilla forces. This M.C.A.C. have done throughout the campaign on the following principle. A group under American officers is put in behind the Japanese lines and when that group is well established, arms, equipment and food are dropped and distributed under safeguard to the forces that group raises. When the battle moves over them, the arms are collected and to illustrate the effectiveness of the O.S.S. system Colonel Peers now has in his armouries a surplus of 2,000 more weapons than he originally issued.

SECRET

The effect of this group system can best be seen by comparing it to a slowly moving snowball, war mass, with its rear end melting away as guerrillas are charged to their own parts of the country and villages.

Their strength is considerable and round the area of LASHIO there are no less than 7 battalions of regulars, strong, commanded by Americans deep in the enemy territory.

Their bag of Japanese picked up dead in the last few months is now approaching 4,000 and it is due to the above system that the volume of intelligence available to N.C.A.C. and on the borders of their territory, is large and so great.

I have discussed the above with B.G.S.(I) and C.G.S. and A.L.F.S.E.A. and strongly urged that covering approval be given to N.C.A.C. to continue the system, for there is at present an order out that no arming may take place without prior approval, and in view of the Karenni decision to arms 136 (referred to in paragraph 6(3) above) and the great success in the N.C.A.C. area, it is not surprising that those in authority at N.C.A.C. feel that they also should be fully trusted.

D.G.S.(I) and C.G.S. were fully in agreement, and pointed out that O.S.S. had submitted no plan, and this I have asked O.S.S. to do. When they had, the agreement of C.A.S.(B) would be sought.

I was impressed with the evident sense of responsibility present in the minds of those concerned at N.C.A.C., and towards the British Civil Affairs problem, and am equally convinced that the issuing of arms by the Americans under their system can do nothing but help military purposes, and being carefully controlled do nothing proportionate to harm post military problems.

Nothing in the above affects the A.F.O. but is concerned with the Kachins, Shans and presumably in time the Karennis.

A point
the Force 13
ordination

is that when the "snowball" reaches resistance movement very careful co-

the Japanese, and the point was put forward that operations have to be cleared with the P.W. Division, sometimes means that "hot" intelligence which could be worked up into effective black propaganda is faced by delay and by the time approval is given is stone cold and useless. The remedy it is suggested lies in the laying down of firm lines within which subordinate commands can work and approval to be given for action to be taken on the spot, subsequently reporting what has been done in order to keep abreast for H.Q.'s in the picture.

8. ADV. ALFSEA (second visit).

In addition to discussing the points above a meeting was held which was attended by all G.1 and G.2 P Div. officers with the exception of Lieut. Colonel Willis, who for some reason had not arrived. The following decisions were reached:-

1. Code Names.

'P' Division SACSRA would continue to issue blocks of code names as received from I.S.S.D. on behalf of I.S.L.D., O.S.S. and Force 136, and keep G.1 P Div. A.L.F.S.E.A. informed of what they represent. 'G' Force code names would be issued by Adv. A.L.F.S.E.A. and 'P' Div S.A.C.S.E.A. be kept informed.

2. Money.

Any money required by Adv. A.L.F.S.E.A. for 'G' Force operations would be provided through 'P' Div. SACSRA.

3. Boundaries.

The 15th Corps boundary to the eastward was defined as running along the ridge of the Eastern Arakan Yomas.

9. General Remarks.

The expressed opinion of commanders and senior staff officers of the various commands regarding clandestine intelligence gave me the same type of shock one would receive in a market town if one met a group of fairly contented farmers. There is no doubt there has been a marked improvement and the system is well into its stride, and should produce progressive results. There is a necessity for all organizations to get quicker into action, commanders frequently want an operation put in at very short notice and clandestine services should plan to meet and. This is being taken up.

Another need is for more frequent liaison visits, misunderstandings and doubts disappear with personal contact and weak spots show up more quickly.

Seeing the O.S.S. unit in the field with its equivalent combination of all the British clandestine and quasi-military organizations left me in no sort of doubt as to how these services can best be organized to serve commanders in the field. It would be unsound to recommend a changed organization now for we have, by empiric methods, arrived at a compromise which works.

10. The agreement of A.L.F.S.E.A. was obtained to our P/2440 of 31st January 1945, implementing the conclusions reached at the Barrack-pore conference.

Dear General Donovan:

I would like to extend to you the aid which the Office of Strategic Services rendered to the United States Strategic Air Forces in this theater of war. This appreciation is made to me by my Staff Officers, who have had valuable contacts with your service personnel.

It would seem unduly to praise the Office of Strategic Services for the aid which it has rendered to the United States Strategic Air Forces. However, I would like to express my appreciation for the timely assistance given to my staff by the Office of Strategic Services. The periodic condition of the war is a condition of tremendous value. We have had the aid of men of your organization and I am sure it is sincerely hoped that the type of services rendered by your sections dealing with the theater of this war, but will continue to develop throughout the country.

Your generosity in allowing the United States Strategic Air Forces to utilize experienced analysts has made for a well planned program and has enabled our Intelligence and Operational Director to deal with the confidence in their decisions which might have been lacking without your assistance.

15th November, 1944.

Dear Bill

The visit here of your very able representative in Switzerland reminds me of the fact that when I was in London recently I had the opportunity of going into the history and product of the "Wood" traffic. This is certainly one of the greatest secret intelligence achievements of this war. I mention this exceptional case but I must also express my most sincere admiration for the way your whole S.I. organization has been developed in what is, compared to the development of the various established secret intelligence organizations elsewhere, a phenomenally short space of time. I say nothing at this moment about what I have seen of the operations of your other departments, which are no less outstanding, but I cannot help recording my delight that your "I" side — which, after all, is the most delicate operation in foreign fields — has been so amazingly successful. All those with any real experience who know something about its operations and achievements are astonished at the progress which has been made.

You have cause for pride in the accomplishment, and those concerned deserve every congratulation, but I look beyond the satisfaction which has been given me to play some role of minor assistance in its beginnings, to a profound hope and faith that the organization which you have so effectively created and developed will continue into the days of peace.

- Page Two -

After this war you and I will probably be following our normal peacetime preoccupations. You well know my views about the importance of the United States Government having its own world-wide secret intelligence organization. It may be that other Governments, possibly with evil intentions, would not welcome the continuation of an U.S.G. secret intelligence organization, but I, personally, have always had the deepest conviction that if such an organization as yours had existed in the years following the last war this war might have been averted. There is no need to go into the details of what I consider to be absolutely irrefutable arguments in support of this contention, because they are known to you and I think that you completely agree with me.

I write you this letter not only to express my admiration for the pages of history which you have already made but also to say once again that I hope and trust that your achievements of the past are to be but the sound foundation for the future S.I. organization of U.S.G.

1. As pointed out in the letter, the activities of the resistance groups, much of this assistance is of a strategic nature drawn from the experience developed during the course of the war. As other forces benefited from the assistance of SF No. 10, attached to the Twelfth Army, this headquarters informed of the activities. It is to be noted that numerous units obtained a great deal of information on enemy locations and movements from the resistance parties. The use of individual resistance groups rather than organized units in the area covered by this army.

2. The activities of the FBI in the area were directed by higher headquarters but as a result of the entry into Paris by elements of the Twelfth Army. After its liberation the assistance given to the resistance groups permitted the freeing of large numbers of troops that otherwise would have been used in the area.

3. As a result of these operations it is felt that the activities of resistance groups should be directed on a higher level than army headquarters. A small liaison group to keep army headquarters informed of plans is essential. In addition personnel to operate headquarters and possibly division headquarters should be provided. These are of considerable value in handling and personnel recovered during the advance of the Army. The Twelfth Army as constituted was able to form and operate and did perform them in a Memorandum for D/A. C. of G-2.

Subject : O.S.S. Contribution to Intelligence Collated for Operation DRAGON.

1. The intelligence provided for Operation 'DRAGON' was probably the fullest and most detailed of any provided by G-2, AFHQ in a series of combined operations commencing with 'TORCH'. The GOC, 7 U.S. Army himself paid a personal tribute to its 'extraordinary accuracy'.

2. The material collated by G-2, AFHQ came from a variety of sources but the very considerable contribution of O.S.S. merits special emphasis, not only on account of its intrinsic worth but because the results obtained provide a signal example of what can be done by an agency of this kind when it consents to work in closest cooperation with the Operational Headquarters which it is serving.

3. A rough estimate of the proportion of accepted ground Intelligence supplied by the three Allied agencies shows that 50% was provided by O.S.S., 30% by the S.R. and 20% by I.S.L.D.

4. The French Desk at Algiers maintained daily contact with the S.I. Section at AFHQ. All the members of it were indefatigable in their efforts to secure the information requested. Nothing was declared to be impossible.

A full and accurate picture of the static situation in Southern FRANCE was gradually built up and when the events of July and early August threatened to confuse the whole issue by setting the whole enemy lay-out in motion, a phenomenally accurate check on troop movements was maintained with the result that we were not only able to keep 7 Army in possession of an up-to-date picture but also to provide SHAEF with information in advance of any other source.

5. I have had not inconsiderable experience of intelligence planning and am very fully aware of the patience and meticulousness required of both planners and intelligence agencies. I consider that the results achieved by O.S.S. in respect of Southern FRANCE before DRAGON are outstanding that they should be brought to the attention of interested authorities, together with the names of our principal collaborators:

SUBJECT: Strategic Services Section (OSS), Headquarters Seventh Army

TO: A. C. of S., G-2, Headquarters Sixth Army Group, APO SF, 7500

1. It is desired to point out and emphasize the extremely important work which has been and is still being done for this command by the OSS Detachment, officially known as Co A, 2572nd Regiment, OSS (Encl) at this Headquarters as the "Strategic Services Section".

2. During the planning phase of the Operation DRAGON (ARVN) personnel of this unit operated under control of AFHQ, but were attached with this section in the employment of intelligence agents in the field. They were attached to Headquarters Seventh Army (Letter dated 17 Oct 1944, J-14, 1944).

3. Since the beginning of the operation, this detachment under supervision has served as the sole agency for the administration and control, coordination and control of all clandestine intelligence activities of agents in the Seventh Army Area. By thus concentrating the administration and control of all such activities in the hands of a single agency composed of highly competent, trained, and experienced personnel, and supervised by an officer capable of maintaining effective control of such operations, the command has enjoyed the benefits of a very prolific flow of reliable intelligence agent intelligence and has at the same time, to a great extent, solved the difficult problems of recruiting and screening of agents in civilian areas.

4. With the transfer of jurisdiction from the jurisdiction of the State Department to that of ARMY, it is proposed that changes in the structure and organization of the command be proposed or considered. In view of this possibility, it is suggested that the fact the entire staff of clandestine intelligence activities of the subordinate command is dependent on the command for its existence and that every possible effort be made to maintain the command in its present form. The command is a unique organization and its function is of great importance to the command.

Dear General Donovan:

Your thoughtfulness in forwarding for my information a copy of the letter of commendation which you received from General Davidson of the Tenth Air Force with reference to the outstanding accomplishments of Detachment 101, O.S.S. is appreciated. The contribution of this detachment to the efforts of the Tenth Air Force in furnishing target information, damage assessment and, particularly, the assistance and rescue of pilots and air crews adds further assurance that our military successes are to a great extent the result of our traditional American teamwork.

General Davidson's statement that O.S.S. personnel effected the rescue and return of four fighter pilots and participated in the rescue of or assistance to 131 air crew members of troop carrier units and Air Transport Command was most satisfying. These achievements which materially contribute to the maintenance of the high morale of our air crews are all the more remarkable in view of the difficulties of rescue in the dense jungle and rugged, mountainous terrain of Burma.

I wish to take this opportunity to add my own commendation to that of General Davidson for the exceptionally fine work of Detachment 101, O.S.S.

SUBJECT: Provision of Intelligence for Operation DRAGON
TO: Commanding Officer, 2677 Regiment, OSS

1. During both the planning phase and the actual operation, up to the time that OSS(SI) agents were overrun, intelligence flowing through the office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, A. F. H. Q., was extremely accurate and contributed in no small way to the success of the operation, particularly from an intelligence point of view.

2. Much credit should go to Mr. Henry Hyde and Mr. Ted Ryan for the actual preparation of the above mentioned intelligence. Their close liaison and cooperation with the G-2, G. Country Sections concerned with Southern France enabled them to receive the guidance as to what specific information was required and to better direct the agents under their control in the actual procurement of the information.

3. Although unknown to the undersigned, the agents who worked in the field deserve their share of praise, particularly for their high standard of reporting. Many of the diagrams and charts of defences, dumps and other important enemy installations were extremely helpful, especially since through them confirmation of and additions to information gathered from air photos were made. Furthermore, installations were uncovered which due to good camouflage had not been picked up on air photos.

Dear General Donovan:

General Eaker has recently sent me a report of the rescue of American airmen from the Balkans. The release of these crews has given a tremendous boost to the morale of AAF personnel in the Mediterranean.

General Eaker, in his report, emphasized the important role played by Office of Strategic Services personnel in the operations. The success of the rescue missions has been directly dependent upon excellent OSS cooperation.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the assistance your organization has rendered to the Army Air Forces. I am especially grateful for the part played by Company B of the 2766th Regiment.

During the last three months, General Eaker informs me, 1,888 American airmen have been rescued from the Balkans. This is an achievement in which the OSS should have much justification for pride.

Sincerely yours,

H. H. Arnold

Large number of American aircraft of the Fifteenth Air Force have parachuted safely, aircraft disabled while operating over the Balkans. In the Balkans was such that many of the refugees in areas held by the enemy in Greece, Yugoslavia, and Rumania. These refugees are being helped in effect in an early return to their organizations, but they were not receiving assistance from outside Yugoslavia.

Company B, 2700 Regt (Prov). - This is a company which was formerly known as Special also. It has officers stationed with elements of the Vrhovna Vojna Sila in Yugoslavia. This company performs functions of collecting downed airmen, bringing them to places from which they are recovered and informing the airmen are taken to the hospital and may be given certain medical aid. It is entirely American maintained and operated in Yugoslavia.

Force 322 - Force 322 is a station. It is a part of the rescue command where it has been believed there were rescue work to be rescued by the air force. It has been isolated in the rescue command. It has special request for a letter to the force.

The fifteen air force has been used in the rescue of American airmen from the necessary transportation out of the planes of the fifteen air force and troop carrier loaned to it by the first troop carrier in the transportation of personnel. Pilots of the Air Force have been used to escort the aircraft in transportation of airmen.

Rescue of airmen from the Balkans, up to mid 1944, was accomplished by special arrangements in which organizations operating in the Balkans provide information that airmen had been located and that it was possible to perform a rescue operation.

On the 14th of July, 1944, action was initiated to form an Air Crew Rescue Unit. The duties of this unit were to assist in the rescue of American airmen within the Balkan States. It was directed that this action be accomplished in closest cooperation with the Air Officer Commanding, Balkan Force, and other military units operating in the Balkan States. The organization was to consist of military and non-military. It works in close cooperation with the units which are authorized to operate in the Balkan States.

The Air Crew Rescue Unit established its quarters at Bari, Italy. It was attached to the Air Force. Its personnel included the following:

Headquarters
 The Commanding Officer
 The Officer
 The Sergeant

Air Crews
 Three Pilots
 Three Crew Chiefs
 Two Radio Operator

Operations
 Four Radio Operators

Field Teams
 Two Field Teams, each consisting of:

Two Officers
 The Senior Officer
 The Junior Officer
 Two Medical Technicians

If the above information was furnished to the Headquarters, the field teams would be personnel by Co. 1, 276th Signal Battalion, and by Fifteenth Air Force.

The unit was furnished two C-47 aircraft.
 It was authorized to request additional aircraft from the Fifteenth Air Force and 1st Group when the need for a large volume of air transport developed.

The Air Crew Rescue Unit functioned as follows:
 which is illustrated by a typical rescue:

Force and the Air Crew Rescue Unit. When the plan was established and appropriate personnel in Yugoslavia notified, the rescue is effected under the operational control of Fifteenth Air Force. The reception, interrogation and return to the United States of personnel thus rescued performed by Fifteenth Air Force.

The recent evacuation of American airmen from Roumania was accomplished as follows:

Notification was received that approximately one thousand (1,000) American airmen were in the Roumania area.

It was asked to send personnel to make arrangements for the return of these airmen. The only organization authorized to perform such a task. The US responded by furnishing Roumanian speaking personnel to take charge of communications personnel to maintain contact.

Fifteenth Air Force and the Air Crew Rescue Unit arranged for C-119's to land at the airmen's air bases and return them to the United States. This was provided by Fifteenth Air Force.

During the past three months, approximately one thousand eight hundred eighty-eight (1,888) airmen have been rescued from the Roumans. Two hundred were rescued in June, two hundred eighty-eight (288) in July, four hundred fifty (450) were rescued in August, approximately one thousand (1,000) are now being processed.

Word has just been received that approximately two hundred (200) American airmen are in Switzerland. Plans are in progress to return these airmen to the United States.

All rescue operations are being covered with narrative and picture stories. It is felt that the air crew rescue work will prove of great news and value in the United States.

Sincerely,

My dear General Donovan:

Several weeks ago, a need arose for a comprehensive statement in graphic form of the activities of this Command for the purpose of presentation to the Air Staff. Because of the excellent reputation of the Presentation Branch of your office, we requested your aid. Both the text and accompanying charts have now been completed. The result fully justifies our expectations. It is a fine job and goes far towards the goal of a more complete clarification of the work of the Air Transport Command.

Please let me thank you most sincerely for your contribution, as well as that of your associates. In this connection, I wish to mention particularly the work of Mr. H. L. Barton, Jr., Mr. David D. Buckley, Mrs. Paula Van Hyning, and Mr. Eric Saarinen.

Sincerely yours,

SUBJECT: Cooperation of Detachment 101 with ATC

TO : Commanding Officer, 101 Detachment, APO 629

1. In the operation of Air Transport Command so much has happened, so many events have occurred, so many favors have been rendered to our personnel by your Detachment, that we feel it is fitting that some recognition of your valued services be now made in writing, so that you may know they have been appreciated.

2. Personnel of the 101 Detachment, USAF, have consistently been of great assistance to the India China Wing of the Air Transport Command.

3. Invaluable aid has been rendered by the 101 Detachment by furnishing the Intelligence section of the India China Wing with information concerning the enemy. This information has helped the ATC Intelligence Officers in their briefing of flying personnel who fly the hazardous Assam-China route as to the exact position of the enemy lines, and the position of enemy airfields, as well as the numerical strength of enemy aircraft based on forward Burma fields.

4. When reports of unusual radio interference on the Transport run were frequent, reports from 101 Detachment offered solutions, for example:

a. On 9 December 1943, Lt. Cole, Pilot of C-46 #398 while in flight from Sookerating to China overheard a Japanese propaganda program broadcast on a frequency of 1145 KC. An English speaking Japanese dedicated his program to American Army Transport pilots. For a full half hour from 1830 hours to 1900 hours the Japanese spoke about the futility of flying supplies to a beaten China. At this time Lt. Cole was flying in the vicinity of Sumprabum, his radio compass needle swung strongly and pointed due south, thus indicating the presence of a station in the vicinity of Sumprabum or south of it. On 14 December 1943, Intelligence reports of 101 Detachment stated that there were two English speaking Japanese Lieutenants at Myitkyina (approximately 75 miles south of Sumprabum) the same report gave the position of a radio station with a peculiar antenna system a short distance north of Myitkyina.

b. On 20 December 1943, 1st Lt. Elias O'Connell, Pilot of C-46 #398, picked up a strong DF station and indicated a station south of the Fort Hertz radio on a position as over Fort Hertz.

with the natives of Northern Burma, though they were supposedly under the control of the Japanese.

When C-46 #634 enroute from Kunming to Chabua rapidly lost altitude and failed to respond to emergency measures the pilot ordered the crew to bail out. Lt. Starling and Cpl. Wyatt bailed out seconds before the transport plane crashed into a mountain side and exploded with the other two members still on board the aircraft. Cpl. Wyatt was badly burned when the plane exploded against the mountain just after he bailed out. Though both men encountered different natives in each case the natives were very friendly. They understood the word American. Xachins hid Wyatt in a cave and treated his burns with native poultices. The enemy was in the immediate vicinity. At one time Cpl. Wyatt looked out of the cave and watched a party of five Japanese soldiers search the home of his benefactor, which was located barely 50 feet away. At this time the natives with knives drawn stood by to protect him should the Japanese discover the cave. Runners carried his messages to the nearest Allied outpost and returned with medical supplies and an air mattress. Risking their own lives the natives smuggled Wyatt out of the cave and carried him to the nearest Allied outpost, Ngumla, where he remained for three weeks recuperating.

Lt. Starling, who landed on a mountain north of the Nganchang Hka River, about ten miles NW of Hpimaw, was also fed and given shelter by the natives and taken to the Forward Headquarters of 101 Detachment.

c. A third incident was the rescue of 2nd Lt. Barton, Cpl. Hammond, and Pvt. Linthicum, all crew members of C-46 #682. These men and the one still missing crew member, 2nd Lt. Bagby, were forced to bail out in the vicinity of Myitkyina after they had become lost and were low on fuel. At this time 16 February 1944, Myitkyina area was strongly entrenched with enemy troops. An agent, a member of 101 Det., found Barton and Hammond, and later Linthicum, and guided the men to safety.

Thus, eight men have been brought from behind Japanese lines, in all three cases a hazardous, self-sacrificing undertaking. These rescues, though the details were withheld for security reasons, had a decided effect in strengthening the confidence of flying personnel, since they gained knowledge that some valiant aid was available, even behind enemy lines.

8. 101 Detachment has unselfishly given the use of their equipment to ATC. On two occasions L-1 type aircraft were loaned to the Search and Rescue Unit, when aircraft of this kind were needed to pick up stranded airmen at some small jungle air-strip. On one occasion badly injured members of aircraft evacuated from a small strip by an Air Warning Station (RA-43). The aircraft crashed at (26°28'N - 95°20'E), near said A.W.S. station. As no aircraft that could land and take off on the small strip was available to the ATC Search and Rescue Unit, assistance of the 101 Detachment was immediately made available, and it was used in evacuating the badly injured fliers as well as the two doctors that participated to their assistance.

9. Upon all occasions the 101 Detachment has given admirable cooperation

101 Detachment sent in a report on 31 December 1943, that a Jap J station was at position (NK 4618) in the Hukawng Valley; two Japanese radio sets were reported at (NK 1547).

c. With conclusive evidence of the existence of enemy radio stations and their locations furnished by 101 Detachment, ATC Intelligence Officers were able to adequately brief flying personnel, and thus inexperienced pilots were probably saved from misinterpreting radio signals.

5. You supplied escape procedures to be followed by airmen forced down in enemy occupied Northern Burma, and advice concerning jungle survival quoting actual experiences, which proved of great value.

6. Major Bryden, Major Riley, and other officers responsible for ATC Airdrome Defense were given excellent training in jungle warfare tactics by the personnel of 101 Detachment.

7. With hundreds of flights being made daily by Air Transport Command aircraft between Assam, India and China, airmen are sometimes forced down along the route which covers some of the wildest terrain in the world. Conscientious attempts are made to rescue these men and many successful rescues are due to the direct effort of 101 Detachment, USAF.

In addition to actual physical participation in difficult search and rescue missions, 101 Detachment has wisely won true native friends in Northern Burma and has briefed them to help all American personnel with whom they may come in contact. In recalling the past participation by 101 Det. in rescue of our personnel, several incidents are outstanding:

a. On 31 January 1944, C-46 #425, enroute to Chabua, Assam from Kunming, China, ran into bad icing conditions, when the radio equipment failed to operate correctly and the gas supply ran dangerously low. Lt. Michael Krikorian, Lt. Jack W. Miller, Cpl. David P. Ash, and Cpl. Curtis P. Pritchard landed several miles to the rear of the Japanese lines near a Japanese stronghold, Makaw Ga in the Northern Hukawng Valley. The airmen were kept awake for the first several nights by the constant cannonading of artillery and rattle of machine gun fire. Taking a chance the Americans approached a native fishing in a stream, luckily he was in the employ of 101 Det. and he guided the airmen to a larger camp where they met Father Stewart, the Irish Catholic Priest, another member of 101. Father Stewart proceeded to guide Krikorian, Miller and Ash as well as a large number of refugees along a precarious route through Japanese occupied Burma. At one time the party narrowly escaped ambush by traitorous Burmese. The India China Wing was informed on 12 February 1944, by 101 Det. that their agents reported Krikorian, Miller, and Ash alive and well, and that they would soon arrive at a secret air-strip located deep in enemy controlled territory. On 16 February 1944, the men were flown out of Burma by three L-5 type aircraft.

On 25 February 1944, ATC was informed by 101 that Cpl. Curtis Pritchard had been captured, while floating down the Lamung Hka River. His captor, a Chinese native, turned Pritchard over to the Japanese.

On an occasion two ATC fliers, 2nd Lt. J. P. Starling and air lines to friendly relations established by 101 to the ATC. Their swiftness of action and their indifference towards all obstacles and danger has been particularly impressive. Our gratitude and appreciation can hardly be expressed in words.

MISSION REPORTCOMMENDATIONS RECEIVED:

Three forms of commendations have been forwarded to Detachment 101 for the period of this report while another in the form of appreciation for information received can also be classified as a tribute to the efforts of the Unit.

The first commendation concerns Warrant Officer, Mr. Robert A. [redacted] of the Field Photographic Section. The commendation came in the form of a citation from General Merrill making him a member of Unit 5007 which entitles him to wear the Presidential Citation awarded that Unit.

The appreciation cable comes from Grunnert of the 1st Army reading as follows:

"Halfpint from Grunnert for Peers. 33 Corps badly in need of information East of the Chidwin and plan to put agents across. Corps request a number of your agents South of Homalin in order that yours and theirs do not conflict. Also if possible they would like a liaison officer from you. Again appreciate information you have been giving us."

Major General Howard C. Davidson, 10th Air Force, U.S. Army, [redacted] it appropriate to send the following commendation regarding this Unit:

HEADQUARTERS TENTH AIR FORCE
U.S. ARMY
Office of the Commanding General
A.P.O. 487

1 August 1944

TO : Commanding General, Office of Strategic Service.
SUBJECT: Contribution of Detachment 101, OSS, to USAAF in North eastern Assam and Northern Burma.

1. Detachment 101, OSS, has from its very inception given the USAAF information and provided extremely effective assistance to the United States Army and Forces operating from Northeastern Assam and Northern Burma. Its operations commencing in February, 1943, has fallen into the following three general categories:

a. Target Information

Air operations in Northern Burma were largely devoted to supporting the campaign of the ground forces. OSS furnished the ground forces with information regarding Japanese troop concentrations, hostile natives, stores and supply movement. Up to 15 March 1944, some 80% of all combat missions were based on the basis of intelligence received from this source. Since then, the percentage of direct air-ground support missions has increased and missions based upon OSS intelligence now average about 60% of the total.

b. Damage Assessment

Extremely important information based upon visual observation of target effectiveness and damage assessment was furnished with great regularity. Aside from the value of damage assessment in mission planning, the opportunity to report to pilots details on the effectiveness of their target attacks was found to be one of our greatest moral boosters.

c. Assistance and Rescue of Pilots and Air Crews

During the period under review, the agencies of the OSS effected the rescue and return of four fighter pilots shot down close to, and in, enemy lines. In addition, they participated in the rescue or rendition of assistance to 181 air crew members of Troop Carrier units and Air Transport Command. In almost every instance these Air Corps personnel were located either in enemy territory or in the jungle-covered, mountainous terrain of Northern Burma. The agencies of the OSS have been of inestimable value in the rescue of these airmen.

Dear Burton:

Lloyd Millegan and I have made a round-up to see how much R & A material has actually been of use here, and we were surprised at the volume of it. It is found in half a dozen publications, sometimes with credit, sometimes without, but it has been well-nigh indispensable in some jobs and useful in all. Practically all of the material that I have brought out has been utilized. The collection that Lloyd got together for me has been a boon to six or eight agencies. Dr. Tossler's material has been extremely useful. Lloyd is making a list of what has been of use that I will send to you.

Ed Mill has done an excellent job on his "Government of the New Philippines." It is being eagerly sought for by numerous staff agencies concerned with the reoccupation. Ed's other current activities are producing rich dividends from our standpoint. I am sorry that direct reciprocation is impossible — you know what the situation is. All I can say is that if there is any satisfaction in making a definite although only partially acknowledged contribution to the war effort in this Theater you are entitled to it.

Things are moving along here, as you know. One feels that the goal is in sight, although still some distance off. Lloyd is indispensable. He is now a staff-sergeant and I hope that he will be wearing shoulder bars in due time.

Best regards to you and Mrs. Fahn — also my friends in the office.

Sincerely,

(Signed) J. R. Hayden

COMMENDATIONS RECEIVED:

Three forms of commendation were received during the period of this report while action on the information received can also be classified as commendation.

The first commendation concerns an officer of the Field Photographic Section. The commendation was received from General Merrill during his tour of duty to wear the Presidential Citation Award for his part.

The appreciation cable comes from Grunert, it follows:

"Halfpint from Grunert for fear of the Presidential Citation East of the Chidwin and plan to put agents in the South of your agents South of Monalin in order to get the information. Also, if possible they would like a liaison officer in the information you have been giving us."

Major General Howard P. Davidson, 101st Airborne, it appropriate to send the following commendation:

1. Detachment 101, 503, was formed in the United States and provided extremely effective support to the Chinese Forces operating from Northeastern Burma. The detachment commencing in February, 1943, was called upon to perform the following duties:

a. Target Information

Air operations in Northern Burma were largely the result of a campaign of the ground forces. OSS furnished intelligence regarding Japanese troop concentrations, hostile movements, and movements. Up to 15 March 1944, some 90% of all combat operations on the basis of intelligence received from this source. Percentage of direct air-ground support missions was based upon OSS intelligence now average about 80%.

b. Damage Assessment

Extremely important information concerning the effectiveness and damage assessment was furnished. Aside from the value of damage assessment in this regard, the opportunity to report to pilots details on the effectiveness of attacks was found to be one of our greatest contributions.

c. Assistance and Rescue of Pilots and Air Crews

During the period under review, the detachment assisted in the rescue and return of four fighter pilots and one crew member to enemy lines. In addition, they participated in the rescue and assistance to 181 air crew members of the United States Army Air Corps. In almost every instance these Air Corps personnel were down either in enemy territory or in the jungle-covered mountains of Northern Burma. Attached hereto, for information, is a detail, in the statement of one of the team members.

2. The operations of Detachment 101, 503, were reported to the Air Corps.

Dear Colonel Haskell:

The results obtained in the reports from this operation have been very helpful. Not only was the information useful, but compared with the great volume of reports received the level of accuracy has been quite high. The manner in which the operation was carried out reflects the obviously excellent training which the intelligence teams had been given.

I am aware that in addition to the ETO teams there are other OSS SI teams attached to First US Army, and I am yet received sufficient reports on their work to judge their performance.

Dear Donovan:

I noted with interest the activities outlined in your recent memoranda. Detachment LCI appears to have been of great assistance to General Merrill's troops in his campaign against the Japanese over difficult terrain. General Stilwell has also remarked on their value. In view of the success of the Simalur Island reconnaissance group in completing its mission, I have brought that report to the attention of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

I appreciate your thoughtfulness in sending me these reports, and I am confident that future activities of OSS will be of comparable help toward the successful completion of the war.

Faithfully yours,

Brigadier General William J. Donovan,
Office of Strategic Services,
Washington, D. C.

Dear General Donovan:

A small group of us preceded the U. S. Chiefs of Staff to the U. K. to prepare for the recently completed conference of the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

While in London several of us took the opportunity offered by your Colonel Joe Haskell to visit his Headquarters. We visited their operations rooms and were thoroughly read into the past, current and projected activities of that branch of your establishment with respect to the invasion of France.

While I had a general knowledge of OSS activities both in my Air Staff duties and as a member of the Joint and Combined Chiefs of Staff organizations, I had not fully appreciated the great contribution your organization is making in the European fight.

In Assam and Burma in March - 1944, I was again surprised and pleased to learn in detail of your very great assistance to the operation of our air units which are supporting General Stilwell and particularly in the recovery of airmen who bail out over the "Hump".

In both instances I have acquainted General Arnold with my general appreciation of the value of OSS and want to take this opportunity to express it to you.

Sincerely,

C. S. KUTER,

My dear General Donovan:

In reply to your inquiry of 3 July 1944, I am only too happy to give my personal approval to the arrangement you are making with General Maitland Wilson with regard to the furnishing of "search parties" in Rumania and Yugoslavia.

Your organization has been of valuable assistance to the Army Air Forces and the Army Air Transport Command - particularly, in the aid which was afforded in the evacuation of air crews grounded in Yugoslavia, Burma, and Albania.

Please accept my sincere congratulations on the activities of your office in the various theaters of operation.

With warmest personal regards, I am

Most sincerely yours,

SUBJECT: Recommendation for presentation of a United States award to source HOUSTON.

TO: Commanding Officer,
2677th Regiment, A.F.H.Q.

Source HOUSTON, formerly known as HO a sub-source of the MADRID chain, has been furnishing information on Southern FRANCE for a period of over twelve months. In the last three months alone this source has turned in the remarkable total of nearly 400 reports from a total of some 40 identified agents and has provided information of operational importance on almost every type of enemy activity and installation.

This source has particularly distinguished itself in the matter of coast defenses and has provided excellent ground reports on German fortifications, especially between PORT VENDRES and SITS and in the environs of TOULON. Detailed mechanical drawings of a great many batteries and Regelbau, which were forwarded with their legend in German, were a particularly noteworthy contribution to our knowledge of enemy defense constructions.

This source has furthermore furnished a quantity of accurate information on German Order of Battle and reports on enemy TOOs (notably a complete breakdown of the TCO Alpenrose, which brought 2 S.S. Panzer Division DAS REICH from BORDEAUX to the TOULOUSE area) have been most helpful.

Qualitatively as well as quantitatively, Source HOUSTON has proven one of the best of the purely American contributions to Allied intelligence and the principal organizer of this chain can be said to have done, in an extremely important area and at an extremely important time, an outstanding job.

1. Am very much impressed by the figures for May showing the tonnage of supplies and leaflets delivered to the BALKANS, POLAND and FRANCE, and the large number of Partisans wounded and other personnel evacuated from the BALKANS.

2. I would like you to congratulate the British, American and Polish Squadrons concerned, and the units responsible for the packing of supplies. A truly remarkable performance at a time when such efforts are of the greatest value. Keep it up.

My dear Colonel,

I would like to thank you and through you all the members of your staff for the excellent and invaluable work which they have achieved during the time I have been at A.F.H.Q.

The quality of work which has been reached and maintained sets a very high standard and its results have made an extremely important contribution to our intelligence tasks in this theatre. We are all very conscious of the debt owed to you and your organization.

I wish you all good luck and further

Very truly,

Dear General Donovan:

I understand that because of budgetary restrictions on civilian personnel there is a possibility that the work of your Presentation Division may be curtailed in the near future.

As you know, the Army has made extensive use of this Division and it has been of great value to us to have such an organization to which we could turn for prompt and intelligent service. The secret film "The United States Army" made for General Marshall's use was remade into a restricted version for general Army use. It has proved to be one of the most widely used of Army instructional films; one Officer Candidate School uses it three times during each course. Other films have been made for G-3 and for the Commanding General, Army Air Forces. We also feel that the films on new weapons produced for the Joint Chiefs of Staff are of great value.

In addition to films, the Army has also received from this Division excellent graphic and editorial services. It prepared the charts and illustrations for the Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff and is at present preparing for this office a study of Army communications. A large volume of the work of this type has also been done for other branches of the Army.

The work which the Presentation Division of the Office of Strategic Services has done for the Army has been of a very high technical excellence. The personnel have been most cooperative and have spared neither time nor energy in their effort to render services. There is no other place in either the War Department or in the other government services where work of this type can be performed so quickly, secretly, and with such a high degree of technical excellence. I hope that there will be no curtailment which will hinder the continuation of the work which the Presentation Division has been doing for the War Department and the Army.

Sincerely yours,

JOSEPH T. MCNARNEY
Lieutenant General, U.S. Army,
Deputy Chief of Staff.

Dear Bill:

We are engaged in a very important confidential project involving the matter of presentation -- specifically the preparation of quite a number of graphic illustrations and maps.

The purpose for which the work is intended is such that we require that it be executed with the highest degree of skill and effectiveness.

We have talked with Mr. Burton of the Presentation Division and feel that this Division is the best qualified in Washington to do the work. We would appreciate your official approval of this request. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Colonel Donovan:

I cannot let the holiday season pass without expressing my gratitude to you for the cooperation and assistance you have given me personally in the trying times of the past year.

I regret that after voluntarily coming under the jurisdiction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff your organization has not had smoother sailing. Nevertheless, it has rendered invaluable service, particularly with reference to the North African Campaign. I am hopeful that the new Office of Strategic Services' directive will eliminate most, if not all, of your difficulties.

With my thanks to you and to your distinguished associates and my best wishes for the New Year.

WASHINGTON

Dear Colonel Donovan:

Thank you for your letter of January 14, and the accompanying report from the committee which has been investigating the availability of motion pictures on strategic areas of the world.

I feel, on the basis of the results obtained to date, that the committee's recommendation for the continuance of this project is deserving of serious consideration. Naturally, we are keenly interested in the possibilities of obtaining further material of value from sources such as those which have already been listed, and I am therefore taking the opportunity of circulating the committee's report to various interested offices within the Department for study. The recent speedy collection and showing of films on the Pacific islands which your staff handled for us is a good example of what advantages may result from a comprehensive survey and cataloguing of these sources.

There is, of course, considerable work still to be done in setting up any permanent means for handling or evaluating the vast mass of material involved. In the working out of some ultimate arrangement mutually satisfactory to all parties concerned we shall be glad to be of all possible assistance, and to that end we should appreciate being informed of any further steps which your agency may contemplate after review of the committee's report.

Sincerely yours,

My dear Colonel Donovan:

It has been brought to my attention by the Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics that the photographic personnel of your staff under Commander John Ford, U.S.N.R., have been extremely cooperative with the Photographic Section of the Navy Department. This cooperation has manifested itself in many ways. For instance, this unit has made available to the Photographic Section of the Bureau of Aeronautics various types of equipment, not available elsewhere, urgently needed for the fitting out of Navy photographers sailing on special and extended missions.

I desire to express my appreciation of this fine display of cheerful cooperation. I am sure that such a relationship will continue to exist in our common effort.

Dear Colonel Donovan:

Thank you for your letter of December 11, 1941, in which you point out the availability to the War Department of the Research and Analysis Branch of your office. The Military Intelligence Division of the General Staff already has had very fruitful contact with the Research and Analysis Branch and is in the process of arranging for the cooperative handling of several new projects. G-2 is especially appreciative of the fresh and independent outlook of your staff of experts.

Needless to say, I appreciate the characteristic spirit underlying your offer as highly as I do the valued services which it makes available.
